Prayer for Wholeness
Gracious God,
too often our lives reflect chaos
instead of creation.
Living in disorder and turmoil,
we exist as though you do not.
Have mercy on us.
Rain your love upon us,
creating in us a new day.

+Sending Hymn (3x)
The Lord now sends us forth with hands to serve and give,
to make of all the earth a better place to live.
The angels are not sent into our world of pain
to do what we were meant to do in Jesus's name;
that falls to you and me and all who are made free.
Help us, O Lord, we pray, to do your will today.

When you do things from your soul, you feel a river moving in you, a joy. Rumi

Joy is the infallible sign of the presence of God.

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin

They say a person needs just three things to be truly happy in this world: someone to love, something to do, and something to hope for.

Tom Bodett

I don't think of all the misery, but of the beauty that still remains.

Fragments

I move through the world in fragments,
Tripping over parts of myself along the way.
As each fragment jockeys for recognition, validation, and acceptance, I learn to quiet their clamoring voices like a nervous parent quiets an exuberant child calling too much attention to itself.

I contort my pieces to fit into spaces that were clearly not meant for me.

The discomfort means I can not stay long.
At the end of the day, I do a roll call to ensure all my fragments are accounted for and none have been left behind.

A comrade asks: "Who would you be in a world without oppression?"
I answer: Whole.
